

FULTON BUSINESS MEN MEET HICKMAN LEAGUE.

Speaking of the meeting held here Thursday by representatives of the Business Leagues of Fulton and Hickman, the Fulton Leader says:

"The committee from the Fulton Merchants' and Business Men's Association consisting of Chairman I. H. Read, Messrs. Joe Browder, T. M. Franklin, W. R. Butt and Joe Davis, went to Hickman and met with quite a number of the members of the Hickman Association and discussed the question of what roads should be graveled and which first, when the question of bonds has been settled.

"They found the Hickman business men inclined to be liberal toward this end of the county and disposed to grant that the roads specially desired by the people should be the ones selected for gravealing. It was agreed that the road leading toward Hickman county should enter by the Cayce route.

"The meeting was a very satisfactory one."

It is also very gratifying to the Business League of Hickman to have the co-operation of our neighbors from the east end. Much can be accomplished by a united effort and it will pay the two organizations in every instance to "compare notes" when it comes to a campaign for public improvements effecting the entire county. Further, we believe it is safe to say that neither the towns of Fulton or Hickman will attempt to get the "lion's share" on the gravel roads proposition. On the contrary, they should—if it were necessary—use their influence in getting an equitable distribution of public improvements. To be a party to any other arrangement would be a flagrant violation of public confidence. The coalition or united effort of the organizations mentioned is merely for the purpose of giving the road business their support and endorsement—but not to the exclusion of any part of the county. Let's get together and stay together. It will not only help the two towns but the entire county.

NEW CINCINNATI-MEMPHIS BOAT ARRIVED SATURDAY.

The Str. Ohio, a new boat put in trade between Cincinnati, Ohio, and Memphis, Tenn., made her debut at Hickman Saturday night, unloading quite a bit of freight for merchants of this city. The Ohio is a steamer of about the Georgia Lee's size. She will pass Hickman once each week, making her round trips once in two weeks. The management will endeavor to load the new boat with long haul freight, but will take all local business offered her. She is also nicely fitted up for passenger service and carried quite a crowd on her initial trip.

NOTICE TO THE UNEMPLOYED.

TRUCKERS GETTING BUSY. CABBAGE PLANTS SET OUT.

The first shipment of cabbage plants for our local truck growers arrived Saturday. In this shipment were 45,000 plants, coming from South Carolina. A still larger shipment is due to arrive the latter part of the present week. The setting out of these plants may be said to be the first tangible step on the part of our truckers.

Next will be the tomato crop. Plants have been purchased, cold frames made and ground is being prepared to receive them as soon

STRAWBERRIES SHOULD BE SET THIS SPRING.

Lest we forget, The Courier would like to call to the attention of our truck-growing friends the importance of getting out a strawberry crop this spring for the coming season. Of course, there is plenty of time—but arrangements should be made in advance for plants, etc. The truck growing movement here owes its existence to agitation for strawberry growing. We drifted off that one crop into a wholesale trucking business, which is alright. But to our way of

FAMOUS AVIATOR LOSES LIFE AT SAN FRANCISCO.

Mr. Beachey, the aviator, was killed while making an exhibition flight at the Panama-Pacific exposition Saturday. At an altitude of about 7,000 feet Beachey began a sharp descent. The wings of his aeroplane collapsed and the machine plunged into San Francisco bay.

Thousands rushed to the nearby water front, but with the exception of a few splintered fragments of the aeroplane floating on the surface of the bay no signs of the wrecked machine

BRITISH SHIPPING ORDER IS FAR REACHING.

The British order in council is the most far-reaching that has been announced by any government since England's supreme struggle with Napoleon more than 100 years ago.

As we understand England's order, every sort of communication with Germany is forbidden and England will seize any cargo consigned to a neutral country which the imperial government has cause to believe might have its ultimate destination in Germany.

This order will prevent the delivery of anything consigned to Germany, but if the goods are not contraband England proposes to take them over herself for his majesty's government.

This seems to mean that if we would ship a cargo of cotton to Germany that England would take it over and pay us the price. The next question arises is—what price England will pay, and when they will pay it.

When the Germans issued their notice that they intended to submarine every boat, regardless of its character, in the war zone, and that neutral boats would have to take care of themselves, the other nations felt that Germany would be careful not to attack any neutral ships, and none of our vessels have been molested by submarines.

We believe that England is more determined in its proclamation than it will be in fact. The United States may accept a part of England's declaration, but if it acutely bears against the neutral commerce of this country, a protest will certainly be followed by an arrangement whereby some sort of civilized commerce can be carried on.

Pres. Wilson has before him a very serious problem and it behooves all of us, every one of the 100,000,000 Americans, to sit steady in the boat until he maps out a line of procedure which will safeguard both the commerce and the honor of this nation.

About The Bread Question.

The people of Hickman are using all the time more and more bakers bread. And the women are quite right about it. Keep out of the hot kitchen all you can, I say. I'VE BEEN THERE.

There is fully ten times as much bakers bread sold in Hickman now, to what was sold here a few years ago. As bread is said to be the staff of life, it figures pretty big in the cost of living, and if you are paying too much for it, it follows that it is largely responsible for YOUR HIGH COST of living.

I'm always on the lookout for a saving proposition for my customers. This isn't philanthropic, please. Its to my interest, too. So, last week when I got hold of a sample of a round, sandwich loaf of bread put up in a big city, made in an up-to-date sanitary factory, under official inspection, I said, "My customers must have this."

I wrote at once and ordered it, but they told me they were only making it for their city trade, particular people, they said. Well now, didn't that rile me? As if anything was too good for MY customers.

I persuaded them to let me have it, though, and the first shipment should be in Thursday morning, and then every day.

This loaf will sell at five cents, same as the other round loaf sold in town, but there's this difference; our round loaf weighs full twelve ounces, the other round loaf sold in town weighs but nine to ten ounces. Now, to figure this out means that to buy the same amount of bread we sell you for one dollar, you will have to buy one dollar and a quarters worth of the other fellows round loaf. Some difference, isn't it? Then weigh the other fellows ten cent cream loaf. Looks big, but it weighs only 16 ounces. Our 10 cents loaf weighs 24 ounces. So that one dollars worth of our bread would cost you a dollar and a half if you buy the other fellows cream bread. And ours is the better bread.

Try a loaf of this bread. Your money back you know if you are not satisfied.

as danger of frost is past. This is going to be the biggest crop grown by the Hickman Truck Growers Assn. Anticipating a big "after crop" of tomatoes, the Business League will do its damnest to get a canning factory in Hickman to use the surplus. Mr. Nagel, of the Union City Canning Co., will meet with the organization this afternoon with a view to establishing a branch cannery here. Not only tomatoes, but sweet potatoes and other vegetables will find a good local market if the factory is located here.

As a whole, the truck situation is well in hand with splendid prospects of making it a big success. Enthusiasm is springing up in sections where little interest was expected.
